

Are you a Member of the American College of Health Care Administrators?
No? How did that happen?

ACHCA is the only individual, professional membership organization representing long-term, rehabilitative, subacute and assisted living care Administrators.

We subscribe to a Code of Ethics making ourselves publicly accountable for our conduct and performance.

We promote the profession of long-term, rehabilitative, subacute and assisted living administration.

We support each Member's personal growth in the profession, and we support each other.

We give something back to the profession that sustains us.

So, what are you doing to enhance the profession that provides for your livelihood and that of your family? What statement do you make to your community about what you stand for? What makes you a "professional" Administrator as opposed to a "licensed" Administrator?

Not a Member of the American College of Health Care Administrators? We invite you to find out more about us by visiting our National website at www.achca.org or our State Chapter at www.ctachca.org. Call me, and let's talk. Together, we can make it happen!
