

2015 Marcum Long-Term Care Symposium

The long-term care industry is an ever-fluctuating arena deeply impacted by Federal and State legislative changes, economic turmoil and resident expectations. The future landscape is certain to evolve, and providers must begin to prepare for these changes now. The Second Annual Marcum Long-Term Care Symposium is dedicated to providing professionals with a glimpse of the future, both operationally and economically.

The Symposium will feature two high-profile nationally recognized speakers: Anirban Basu, Marcum's Chief Economist, and Leonard Russ, a Chairman of the American Health Care Association.

This event is expected to draw over 250 owners, operators and administrators from across the New England area. As a sponsor, your company will gain valuable exposure to the decision-makers and top industry executives.
